HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Start with what the office can actually do.

Each race begins with the office responsibilities and a neutral comparison, followed by each candidate's background, stated reason for running, published priorities, official campaign link when one could be verified, and further reading.

> Important: This is not an official ballot and it does not recommend candidates. The supplied personalized sample contained candidate contests but no ballot propositions. Check your official Collin County sample ballot for your precinct before voting.

RESEARCH METHOD

Roster first. Candidate names and geography were checked against election-authority pages and the supplied sample ballot.

Primary sources. Campaign sites, official biographies, filings, candidate questionnaires, and direct interviews are identified. Candidate claims are not presented as independent fact.

Gaps stay visible. When no verified campaign site, interview, or candidate-specific platform was found, the guide says so rather than inferring a position.

Judicial races. Judges generally describe experience and philosophy rather than promising results in particular cases.

RACE 01 · STATEWIDE · ALL TEXAS VOTERS

U.S. Senate

Term: 6 years Candidates: 3

WHAT THIS OFFICE DOES

Votes on federal laws and spending, confirms judges and executive nominees, and considers treaties.

Comparison in one view
The sharpest differences concern the federal role in the economy, immigration, reproductive rights, regulation, and civil liberties.

Ken Paxton

Republican

BACKGROUND

Texas attorney general since 2015; previously served in the Texas House and Senate and represented the McKinney area.

WHY THIS CANDIDATE SAYS THEY ARE RUNNING

His campaign presents the race as a way to advance a conservative, Trump-aligned agenda in Washington.

PUBLISHED PRIORITIES OR APPROACH

- Tax reductions and business incentives in an economic plan
- Stronger immigration enforcement and border security
- Limits and conditions on large data-center development
- Conservative positions on abortion, firearms, and regulation

Paxton did not answer the Tribune questionnaire; the guide attributes his positions to prior public statements.

PUBLISHED PRIORITIES OR APPROACH

- Affordability measures involving health care, housing, and utilities
- Stronger public-school funding and worker protections
- Tighter rules for data centers and consumer privacy
- Abortion rights and protections for LGBTQ residents

Official campaign site · Candidate Q&A and sourced positions

Ted Brown

Libertarian

BACKGROUND

Longtime Libertarian organizer and former independent insurance adjuster; UCLA political science graduate.

WHY THIS CANDIDATE SAYS THEY ARE RUNNING

He argues that both major parties have expanded government and says he offers a civil-liberties and limited-government option.

PUBLISHED PRIORITIES OR APPROACH

- Lower federal spending and taxes
- Reduced overseas military involvement
- Legal treatment of cannabis and hemp rather than prohibition
- Privacy protections and limits on surveillance

Comptroller of Public Accounts

Term: 4 years Candidates: 4

WHAT THIS OFFICE DOES

Collects major state taxes, forecasts revenue, oversees contracts, and administers the school-voucher program.

Comparison in one view
The main contrast is whether the office should emphasize spending cuts and conservative program oversight, independent auditing and public-service costs, or broader libertarian/Green financial reforms.

Don Huffines

Republican - appointed incumbent

BACKGROUND

Real-estate developer, former state senator, and 2022 gubernatorial candidate; appointed comptroller in July 2026.

WHY THIS CANDIDATE SAYS THEY ARE RUNNING

He says he would use audits to find waste, return savings through tax relief, and implement conservative priorities.

PUBLISHED PRIORITIES OR APPROACH

- Audit state spending and contracts
- Property-tax relief from identified savings
- Study state costs tied to unauthorized immigration
- Implement vouchers transparently and audit highway contracts

Railroad Commissioner

Term: 6 years Candidates: 3

WHAT THIS OFFICE DOES

One of three commissioners regulating oil and gas drilling, pipelines, gas utilities, well plugging, and related underground storage.

Comparison in one view
The contest contrasts industry-first deregulation, stronger enforcement and environmental controls, and a libertarian market approach with operator liability.

Bo French

Republican

BACKGROUND

Former Tarrant County Republican chair, energy-sector investor, and member of a family oil business.

WHY THIS CANDIDATE SAYS THEY ARE RUNNING

He says he would resist federal or ideological constraints on the oil and gas industry and bring conservative cultural priorities to the agency.

PUBLISHED PRIORITIES OR APPROACH

- End DEI practices at the commission
- Oppose Chinese government influence in Texas energy
- Promote oil and gas development and U.S.-Israel energy cooperation
- Create a pro-family credential for operators

Official campaign site · Sourced candidate guide

Jon Rosenthal

Democratic

BACKGROUND

Four-term Texas House member and oil-field mechanical engineer with more than 20 years in the industry.

WHY THIS CANDIDATE SAYS THEY ARE RUNNING

He says the commission should be more accessible, enforce existing rules, lower gas costs, and reduce pollution.

PUBLISHED PRIORITIES OR APPROACH

- Regional community liaisons and a 24/7 complaint line
- Scrutinize gas-utility rates
- Phase out routine flaring and venting and require leak detection
- Expand well plugging and deny new permits to repeat violators

Official campaign site · Sourced candidate guide

Arthur DiBianca

Libertarian
